

Eight Men Face Court At Capital

War-time Secrecy Is Keynote of Trial of Men Accused by U. S. as Saboteurs
Swift Trial Due

Prosecution May Not Take More Than 3 Days for Case

Washington, July 8 (AP)—In a setting of utmost secrecy, guaranteed by heavily armed soldiers, police and secret agents, and walled-off corridors, eight German-born men went on trial for their lives today before a military commission sitting in the Justice Department.

The eight, accused of violating the articles of war by stealing into this country with intent to spread fire and destruction by Nazi sabotage methods, were rounded up by the F. B. I. after they had been landed by U-boats on lonely beaches of Long Island and Florida.

So veiled with secretiveness was the commission proceeding—the first important one of its kind since the Civil War—that not even the fact of the starting of the trial was made known officially.

An informed person confirmed it, however, after it became obvious from the arrival of the prisoners, the seven generals who compose the commission, the prosecution and defense counsel and a number of witnesses.

The prisoners arrived behind a wedge of motorcycle policemen in two closed vans guarded by soldiers with machine guns and automatic rifles.

They were brought in through a heretofore unused gate in the Justice Department building in an effort to evade curious and photographers who waited at the usual entrance on the opposite side of the building.

Both streets, one on the east, the other on the west side, were patrolled by policemen, while in the basement of the building itself where the trials were held, heavily armed, helmet-wearing soldiers guarded every corner and manned guns set up in some instances on trucks. From there, the prisoners were taken by guarded and secret elevators to the fifth floor area where the trial is being held in what normally is a Federal Bureau of Investigation class room.

Persons having business at the trial entered through a double wooden wall and passed through two sets of guards.

The eight defendants, all German-born, though two had acquired American citizenship before the war, face a swift, unappealable decision. President Roosevelt barred all civil courts to them in a proclamation last week. The commission will decide, by votes of at least 5 to 2, whether they are guilty, and if so, what their punishment is to be.

A formal accusation alleging four violations of the laws of war, the articles of war—each carrying the death penalty—has been filed with the commission by the prosecutors, who are headed by Attorney General Francis Biddle. Biddle's office said he had cancelled all engagements for the next 10 days.

Department Is Closed
The justice department was closed to all but accredited persons, while a fifth floor corridor had been walled-off and barred to all but those participating in the trial.

The defendants are George John Dasch, 39, leader of the group of four which landed near Amagansett, L. I., on June 13; Edward John Kerling, 33, leader of the group of four which landed near Jacksonville on June 17, and these others: Ernest Peter Burger, Herbert Hans Haupt, Henry Himel Neineck, Herman Otto Neuhauer, Richard Quirin and Werner Thiel.

The commission named to try them was headed by Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy as president. His colleagues were Maj. Gen. Walter S. Grant, Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, Maj. Gen. Lorenzo D. Gasser, Brig. Gen. Guy V. Henry, Brig. Gen. John T. Lewis and Brig. Gen. John T. Kenney.

They met yesterday to discuss rules of procedure, which by presidential order must provide for "a full and fair trial." They are required to admit such evidence "as would, in the opinion of the president of the commission, have probative value to a reasonable man."

And when a decision has been reached, President Roosevelt said in his order, "it shall be transmitted directly to me for my action thereon." The President's review will be final.

Most of the prisoners were arrested in the New York area. Two had been held in Chicago, but were taken to New York, and last week were brought to Washington.

They were held in the district of Columbia jail, under heavy military guard. They were brought with them aboard

Kunze Arraigned

Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, 36, described by federal authorities as a former leader of the German-American Bund, smiled in New York where a federal court held him under $50,000 bail on a draft violation charge. Arrested in Mexico, Kunze will be released to authorities at Hartford, Conn., where he has been indicted for violating the 1917 Espionage Act.

11 Persons Held In High Bail in Anti-Bund Drive

Twenty-Nine Are Indicted in Coast-to-Coast Drive; Three Poughkeepsie Men Named

New York, July 8 (AP)—Eleven of 29 persons indicted in the government's coast-to-coast drive to put the German-American Bund "out of business" were held in high bail today as the F. B. I. announced that all those concerned were now in federal custody.

The last of 26 named in indictments charging conspiracy to evade the Selective Service Act, conspiracy to counsel Bund members to resist service in the U. S. armed forces or conspiracy to conceal Bund membership in alien registration, was arrested at New Haven, Conn., last night. He was Wilbur V. Keegan, counsel for the Bund until last January with offices at Teaneck, N. J.

The F. B. I. offices in Hartford said Keegan would probably be given a hearing today.

Twenty had been picked up in various cities immediately after the indictments; four others were arrested in the last few days and four more already were in internment camps.

Bail aggregating $95,000 was fixed for eight indicted on both counts who pleaded innocent before Federal Judge George C. Sweeney in New York. July 28 was set for the trial.

Gustav Elmer, national treasurer, was held in $25,000, while the other seven were fixed at $10,000 each. In Newark August Klapprott, eastern Bund leader; William Luedtke, Bund secretary; and Ernest Martin Christoph, all indicted on both counts, were held in $10,000 bail each to await removal to New York.

Highest bail was fixed for the former Bund leader, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, recently captured in Mexico, who was held in $50,000 bail after pleading innocent to both indictments and to a third accusing him of violating the Selective Service Act in failing to notify his draft board of change of address.

He was wanted also in Hartford on a federal charge of violation of the 1917 espionage act.

In all 54 of the Bund's highest officers were objects of federal proceedings. Aside from those named in the indictments, 25 (Continued on Page 10)

Further Adjournment Is Taken in Will Case Being Heard Before Surrogate

A further adjournment was taken in the will contest action which had been scheduled for trial Tuesday before Surrogate Harry H. Fleming, when attorneys in the action made an all-day attempt to secure an adjustment which would permit the probate of the will of Mrs. Ethel Feinberg, late of Ellenville.

Jurors summoned for the Surrogate Court term were held over for use by Surrogate Fleming. Tuesday morning the court met at 10 o'clock and a recess was taken until 11 o'clock in order that an adjustment of the case might be discussed by the attorneys. That recess continued throughout the day and until late in the afternoon when Surrogate Fleming finally adjourned the court until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the contest will either go on or be adjusted.

Involved in the case is the $60,000 estate of Mrs. Ethel Feinberg, former Ellenville resident, and the contestants are two adopted children, Barbara and Morris Staszewski, both cut off with $1 by the will which is under protest.

American Might Lead All Forces

General Marshall Is Mentioned, Although He Might Not Get Supreme Post
Leahy Is Listed

Admiral Leahy May Get Job if Plan Develops Among Allies

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Some high inter-Allied personages here speculated today on the possibility that an American—perhaps General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army—might some day become supreme commander of all United Nations land, air and sea forces throughout the world.

So far there is no official move toward creating a supreme commander, but it can be said for the idea now that some important people who refuse to permit use of their names, either expect or hope for one.

Assuming that the job went to an American—which both British and American sources here do assume—it might not necessarily go to Marshall. Other possibilities of course include Admiral William D. Leahy and General Douglas MacArthur.

Leahy, while 67, generally is considered one of President Roosevelt's closest military advisers.

Since retiring as chief of naval operations a few years ago he has served as ambassador to the Vichy French government. Recently he left the White House with the statement that the President had "some kind of employment" for him.

General MacArthur might be a contender not only for his military skill but because of the near-worldwide hero worship that has grown out of his defense on Bataan peninsula.

In fact one of the reasons for having a supreme command is the big supply of leadership talent. As one of the ranking inter-Allied officials interviewed for this article put it:

"You might say the United Nations had a football team—Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek at ends, MacArthur at center, Wavell at guard, Roosevelt at quarterback, Churchill at fullback, and similar stars all through the lineup. It might make sense to have a captain to promote teamwork."

Area Commands Established
At present United Nations strategy calls for area commands in different parts of the world.

MacArthur in the southwest Pacific, Wavell in India, Auchinleck in the Middle East, Chiang Kai-shek in China. In Russia, there are only Russian forces, hence no inter-Allied command. Now that Americans are in Great Britain, an appointment may be made there.

The fault, if any, with this set-up is illustrated by the current German threat to Egypt, in the opinion of another official who likewise declined use of his name.

Theoretically, the Nazi forces could have been annihilated long ago if British tanks sent to Russia and American troops sent to Atled in Libya.

Perhaps the routing of men and materials was the wisest possible in the circumstances, said this source. But actually the destinations were chosen on the basis of day-to-day needs. He argued that in a global war, someone ought to be in charge of a master strategy plan for the whole world.

Another reason advanced for a supreme commander was the asserted need of an agency of last resort.

Two Men Arrested At Rondout Bridge

Police Pick Up Pair Who Say They Awaited Ride; Both Discharged

Thursday afternoon residents living in the vicinity of the Rondout Creek Bridge called police headquarters and reported that two men were loitering about the bridge. Officer George P. Bowers was sent to the bridge and arrested Irving Bleich, 41, of Brooklyn, and Solomon Reich, 42, of Lynn, Mass., charging them with disorderly conduct.

This morning the two men were arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court charged with loitering about the bridge. They told the court that they had been waiting at the bridge head in an effort to hitch a ride.

Both men were discharged on their promise to leave the city.

Joseph Ackner of New Haven, Conn., charged with public intoxication on the Strand, was given an hour to leave the city.

17 Persons Are Felled By Chlorine Gas Fumes

New York, July 8 (AP)—Nine of 17 persons felled by chlorine gas when a supposedly empty tank exploded still were in Roosevelt Hospital today.

The tank exploded yesterday afternoon outside the Columbia University College of Pharmacy on West 68th street. The college had donated four tanks—the other three really were empty—to the scrap metal drive. All the tanks were relics of World War I.

Disaster squads formed for war-time emergencies went into action for the first time, aiding dozens of pedestrians who gagged, wept and coughed as the greenish-yellow fumes spread over a three-square-block area before disappearing.

Those hospitalized, including three teen-age children, were reported not seriously affected by the gas. The other victims were treated at the scene and sent home.

Oil Tanker Launched At Rondout Shipyard

The large oil tanker Rockland No. 1, owned by the Dwyer interests of this city, was launched from the ways of the shipyard on the Island Dock, Inc., this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The tanker had been enlarged more than thirty feet in length. In order to lengthen the vessel it was necessary to cut her in half and construct a new welded section. The tanker is of steel construction and the work of lengthening the vessel took a little more than a month.

All local welders were employed on the job.

Allies Have Chance To Hold Positions And Crush Hitler

Loss of Middle East Would Be Grave Matter for Allies, Might Drag War for Years

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World War Analyst)

As the Nazi Napoleon begins to make the weight of his great offensive felt, a lot of folks are beginning to take refuge in the remark that, after all, the allies can lose the Caucasus, the middle east and Egypt and still win the war.

That's a terribly dangerous idea to be nursing. There is, of course, a modicum of truth in the assertion, but it represents the rankest kind of wishful thinking—and it's an invitation to complacency.

I'm not one of those ill-fated faiths who believe that the allies are doomed to defeat in this vast theatre which strategically is one of the most vital of the whole World War. Our peril is very great and we certainly shall lose this territory unless we make a mighty effort and fortune favors us. But we definitely have a chance to hold our ground as things now stand.

Should Hitler gain his objectives, however, the allies would be faced with the grim alternatives of losing the war or of seeing it protracted for many long years.

Nazi Break Through Is Halted, Russian Sources Say; Stories Conflict

Punch Is Saved

Both British and Axis Troops Awaiting Big Decision

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

Counter-attacking Red army troops were reported late today to be wiping out German bridgeheads on the east bank of the Don river and hurling back all further enemy attempts to cross the stream in fierce fighting west of Voronezh.

Recalling after the first violent shock of an offensive by 200,000 German troops, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies were pictured as checking the 120-mile Nazi break through and inflicting huge losses.

Soviet dispatches from the flaming battlefield said heavy combats still raged along the river, but declared that light Nazi forces which reached the east bank were smashed and the bulk of the Nazi invaders were held on the west bank.

Conflicting versions from Berlin and Moscow made it difficult to assess the true situation, but there was at least the possibility that the German offensive had reached its climax and begun to bog down against the rallying Soviet armies.

In support of this thesis was the fact that the German high command failed to reiterate its claim that German troops had captured Voronezh and gave only a vague description of the fighting.

Red army headquarters ignored an official German claim that Voronezh had fallen, declaring that the battle was still raging before that key city on the Moscow-Rostov railway.

"Fierce battles continued to the west of Voronezh," a Soviet war bulletin said.

"In one sector, a large German force attempted to capture a height defended by Soviet tank detachments. Our tanks met the enemy steadfastly."

The communiqué said more than 3,000 German dead littered the battle arena and 35 tanks were destroyed.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that strong Russian forces had been encircled behind the Voronezh front and that a gap in the Soviet lines had been widened.

Conceding that the Russians were still fighting before Voronezh, the Nazi command declared a Red army counter-attacks northwest of the city failed.

Briefly, the German communiqué noted that Soviet attacks in the Orel sector, 210 miles below Moscow, were continuing. The Russians were apparently pressing a counter-offensive around Orel in an attempt to relieve the pressure of the German drive against Voronezh. The latter, if successful, might split Russia's central and southern armies and cut off vital communications to the Caucasus oil fields.

Dispatches to Red Star, official Soviet army newspaper, declared the Russians were holding grimly to their new lines and strongly counter-attacking on some sectors.

"It is with great difficulty, but nevertheless our troops are holding the pressure of the enemy," Red Star said.

In the 15-day-old battle of Egypt, British imperial headquarters announced that British patrols and flying columns slashed at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's invasion armies all day yesterday, destroying Axis tanks and capturing prisoners.

Axis Troops Bombed
Overhead, swarms of RAF warplanes bombed and machinegunned Axis troops grouped in the 35-mile-wide "bottleneck" 70 miles west of Alexandria.

Dispatches from Cairo said there were no major attacks on either side, but the British were saving their heavy punches for a decisive battle expected at any time.

Italian headquarters asserted that a strong British force had been repulsed with heavy losses. The Fascist communiqué described aerial activity in the desert struggle as intense.

While the two armies jockeyed warily, Stockholm dispatches from Berlin indicated uneasiness in the Nazi capital over Rommel's position. One report said the Axis chieftain was in difficulty because his troops were exhausted by the 350-mile sweep across the sands from Tobruk, while Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck's armies were revitalized by fresh troops drawn from the Middle East.

Negro Bootblack Held by Police

Man Questioned in Death of Hotel Engineer

New York, July 8 (AP)—Detectives, following through their original hunch that the death of a mid-Manhattan hotel's chief engineer was murder and not suicide, arrested a negro bootblack early today.

The prisoner, Albert Owens, 54, was booked on a charge of homicide in the razor-slaying of John Erbs, 49, of the Hotel Wentworth. Assistant District Attorney Vincent J. Dermody said Owens had admitted slashing Erbs' neck and lower abdomen.

The engineer's body was found yesterday morning in a blood-soaked bed in his penthouse apartment atop the hotel, and discovery of a blood-stained straight razor in the living room some distance away led detectives to believe it was a murder case.

The medical examiner's office said it was possible Erbs might have slashed his own body in the living room and then walked as far as the bedroom before collapsing from loss of blood.

Detectives John Coleman, Thomas Walsh and Joseph Hennessy, working under Deputy Inspector Conrad Rothengast, learned during a routine questioning of hotel employees and other acquaintances of Erbs that he had been acting glum and "speaking mysteriously" in recent weeks.

Pursuing their probe, they were informed that a negro had been seen leaving Erbs' apartment last week and that Erbs had received two unsigned telegrams in which the sender asked if he could meet Erbs "to patch things up."

Owens said in the police lineup today that he had made a statement to the district attorney.

Dysentery Deaths Bring Statement From Dr. Sanford

With two deaths so far this year from dysentery in Kingston, Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, today issued the following statement:

"Bacillary dysentery is an infectious disease, usually acute and very communicable. It is carried by a variety of dysentery organisms."

"The source of infection is the bowel discharges of infected persons. The mode of transmission may be by drinking contaminated water, by eating infected foods and hand to mouth transfer of infected material, also from objects soiled with discharges of an infected individual or carrier. Flies, vermin etc., may act as mechanical carriers of infection."

"The incubation period is from 2 to 7 days. The disease is communicable until the organism is absent from the bowel discharges. This disease may be mild or severe. Death occurring within a few hours."

"Symptoms—The onset is sudden with gripping pains in the abdomen followed shortly by diarrhea. Within 24 to 48 hours the patient passes dysentery stools consisting of mucus, pus and blood from 5 to 10 times a day or more frequently. Temperature is usually 101 degrees or over. There may be headache, vomiting and signs of toxemia and dehydration. Diagnosis is made from the clinical symptoms and by finding bacilli dysenteriae in the stools (this taking about 5 days)."

Dysentery is particularly dangerous in young children. Isolation is necessary for the protection of others until recovery and until the organisms are absent from the stools."

Cases of this disease have occurred in three families in Kingston during the past six months. There have been two sudden deaths of young children."

It is urged that physicians and heads of families report cases having any of the above symptoms at once to the health department so that immediate investigation to control the spread of the disease can be established."

If cases are not reported until positive stool cultures are obtained (5 days or more) much valuable time will be lost in controlling this disease."

They recommended a testing and rating procedure for grease interceptors.

It was decided to obtain the services of the Institute of Hydraulic Research at Iowa State University for this purpose. About 50 types of interceptors were submitted to the institute by manufacturers for testing, and those demonstrating a grease-holding efficiency of 90 per cent or better were given a certified rating for army use.

When the army acted on these findings and installed the recommended equipment, it not only corrected the clogging of waste lines but was able to salvage about $10,000 worth of grease a day enough to pay for all the interceptors in a few months.

And grease is an important source of glycerine used in making explosives.

Major Community Night Scheduled

Barmann Park to Be Scene of Big Program

The second major community night program of the current season will be held on Thursday evening at Barmann Park, with children from all play areas in the city participating in the program.

This season, all community nights will be city-wide and the entertainment feature will be made up of contributions from each of the playgrounds. In former years, each program was made up with children from the area on which the program was given.

One of the outstanding features of all major community nights will be the performance by the New Yorkers, sensational juvenile orchestra under the direction of Al Rossi, well known local musician. The second appearance of this group will be at tomorrow's program at Barmann Park.

Opening Barmann's Community Night tomorrow will be an athletic event with Mel Lynch's Dodgeette's taking over the field with a women's softball contest. This will be followed by selections by the orchestra on the park stage, plus nine big acts, one from each of the parks. The entire program will be closed by the showing of five reels of talking pictures.

The pictures scheduled for tomorrow night are: Swimming and Diving Aces, showing fancy swimming and diving stunts and water sports; Annimal Cunnning, a picture of wild animals in their native haunts; Sing America, a musical picture of favorite American songs; Pack Up Your Troubles, a movie representation of that old favorite song; and Technocrack, a popular Flip-the-Frog cartoon.

Brother of Sidney Cohen Returns to His Home

Harold Cohen, brother of Sidney Cohen, who was injured in the accident on the St. John road Sunday evening in which Sidney met his death, returned to his home Tuesday after being treated at the Kingston Hospital for a leg injury.

Sidney Cohen was riding on the running board of a light truck and was crushed and instantly killed when the truck left the road and crashed into a tree. According to Deputy Sheriff Belmont, one of the investigating officers, his brother, Harold, was riding on the southern, 19-30, Poughkeepsie road.

The brothers, sons of Louis Cohen, who has a farm and bungalow colony about three miles from Allgerville, with others were riding on a truck driven by Milton Wasserman, a Brooklyn high school student, and were on their way for a swim in the Rondout creek when the accident happened.

Plumbers Also Have Part In Helping Nation's Cause

New instances of the anonymous, unsung part that the less spectacular units of business play in the war come to light every day. "We are indebted for this one to Norman Raddler, secretary of the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau," says Charles M. Gregory, local plumbing inspector. The army troops having trouble with clogging of waste lines from kitchen sinks in the camps. Plumbing manufacturers were called into consultation. They recommended a testing and rating procedure for grease interceptors.

It was decided to obtain the services of the Institute of Hydraulic Research at Iowa State University for this purpose. About 50 types of interceptors were submitted to the institute by manufacturers for testing, and those demonstrating a grease-holding efficiency of 90 per cent or better were given a certified rating for army use.

When the army acted on these findings and installed the recommended equipment, it not only corrected the clogging of waste lines but was able to salvage about $10,000 worth of grease a day enough to pay for all the interceptors in a few months.

And grease is an important source of glycerine used in making explosives.

Army Dependents Checks to Go Out During November

Necessary Machinery Cause of Delay in Payments to Wives and Others Under New Law

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The army already has started deducting from soldiers' pay checks the contributions they are required to make to dependent wives and children under the family allowance bill which became law on June 23, although payments to the dependents will not start until November.

First deductions were ordered from June pay checks due July 1. But since some army posts already had their June payrolls made up when instructions were received, deductions in those cases will not start until August 1. To prevent hardship the June deductions at those camps may be spread over three or four months.

Government cash benefits are being added to these pay allotments, but both will be allowed to accumulate into lump sums ($250 in the case of a dependent wife) before first payments are made on November 1. The law specified payments as of June 1, but delay in setting up the vast administrative machinery will postpone the initial payments for four months.

Thereafter the government checks will go out monthly.

Although formal application blanks will not be available until about July 25, Col. Thurston Hughes, of Louisville, Ky., head of a staff of 1,265 set up to administer the new law for the army, has ordered post commanders to accept informal applications to establish a date for making monthly deductions.

Since deductions and allowances may accrue from June 1, those in the service on that date started, or were due to start contributing July 1. Those entering the service after June 1 will have deductions start from the pay of the month following their application for benefits.

The allotment and allowance law applies to men in the army up to and including the rank of line sergeant, and in the navy to men up to and including third class petty officers. It provides aid to two groups of dependents, defined as Class A and Class B. In the former are wives and children and former wives entitled to alimony; in the latter are parents, brothers, sisters and grandchildren.

Pay deductions of $22 a month are mandatory when a service man has Class A dependents. To this the government adds $28 for a wife plus $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional child; $20 for a child but no wife, and $10 for each additional motherless child. Deductions for Class B dependents are optional. They are $22 if there are no Class A dependents and $5 if there are such dependents.

Kunze Pleads Innocent as Spy

Former Bund Chieftain Held in Default of $50,000 Bail

Hartford, Conn., July 8 (AP)—Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, 36-year-old chief of the former German-American Bund, pleaded innocent today to a charge of espionage.

He was arraigned in Federal Court before Judge J. Joseph Smith and held in default of $50,000 bail.

Kunze, who was brought back from Mexico City over the weekend was held in similar bail in New York city yesterday on a charge of conspiring to violate the Selective Service Act.

Arraigned with him was Wilbur V. Keegan, New York attorney and counsel for the Bund, who himself was arrested here last night by FBI agents on the Selective Service charge. Keegan is accused in a New York indictment of having advised Bund members how to resist service in the armed forces of the United States.

To Fill Vacancy

Members of the Saugerties Fire Department will vote on the selection of a Saugerties man as their recommendation for a successor to John F. Carnright as vice-president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. Mr. Carnright was vice-president of the association and in line for the presidency at the time of his death recently. It is understood that the most prominent candidate for the office is Edmund Burhans, former chief of the Saugerties fire department. The annual convention of the association is scheduled to be held in Saugerties in 1943.

Named Acting Mayor

The Saugerties Village Board unanimously elected Franklin P. Plum, Saugerties garage owner and acting mayor since the death of Mayor John F. Carnright, to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Carnright as mayor. Mr. Plum was elected a Saugerties village trustee in March, 1937.

Agreement Signed

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The United States and the Netherlands signed a lend-lease agreement today. Its provisions are in all essential respects similar to those already concluded with Great Britain, Russia, China, Poland and Belgium.

Allies Have Chance To Hold Positions And Crush Hitler

years, with no man able to foresee the end.

The contingency which would offer deviation from that black prospect would be the successful establishment of a powerful allied front in western Europe before Hitler was able to capitalize the vast resources and strategic advantages which he would have gained by his conquest. Such a front would have to be thrown into action quickly, because the Nazis would acquire strength fast after seizing the oil, minerals and foodstuffs.

While present indications are that the allies aren't yet ready for a land invasion of western Europe, still it strikes me that they might be impelled to jump to it suddenly if Hitler's present offensives, either against Egypt or against the Russians, should jeopardize the whole middle eastern set-up. In any event, one would expect the United States and Britain to inaugurate a terrific bombing offensive against German cities with all forces available in an effort to force withdrawal of German strength from the Russian front.

This whole picture grows out of the premise so often discussed in this column that if Hitler can't break through to fresh resources he will be beaten. If he can reach those resources he can repair his war-machine, and his chances of winning the war will be good.

We have to probe a bit deeper than that, however, to get the full force of his position. Should he gain his present objectives, he not only would acquire resources but he would cut the allies off from them in that theatre. Russia would be badly hamstrung if she lost her grain fields and oil wells in the Caucasus.

Indeed, the Soviet would be pretty much in the present unhappy position of China—her home resources cut to the bone, and virtually isolated from the outside world. Even now Russia's main contact with her allies is through the Arctic ports of Murmansk and Archangel and the Persian Gulf, and Persia would fall with the middle east.

Nazi possession of the whole eastern Mediterranean and middle east would, of course, bring the European Axis powers and Japan together. India would be open to invasion and the Axis front would be solid from the Pacific to the Atlantic. You can fill in the et ceteras for yourself.

To recapitulate, the allied situation obviously is serious, but we haven't been deprived of our chance of holding Hitler's offensive, titanic as it is. And let's not try now to cross the bridge of winning the war after the foe has captured the middle east.

on Malta, the British Mediterranean Island stronghold, indicated that convoys were rushing reinforcements across the sea to Rome. Evidence of the Axis attempt to cripple Malta as a threat to Rome's trans-Mediterranean supply route was reflected in a report last night that Malta's defenders had shot down 24 raiders in 24 hours.

Presumably Rommel was awaiting the arrival of these reinforcements before attempting to lunge on once more in his drive toward the Nile and the Suez Canal.

On the Russian front, the Soviet command acknowledged that Red army troops had retreated under heavy pressure before Staryi Oskol, 65 miles southwest of Voronezh, where a second German spearhead was knifing eastward toward the River Don, but declared the Nazis advanced at the cost of severe casualties.

"In one of the (Stark Oskol) sectors, the Germans hurled about 200 tanks and a large infantry force into the attack," a Soviet communiqué said.

"The Hitlerites were firmly met by antitankmen, trench mortar crews, anti-tank riflemen and tankists.

"Our men mowed down the Hitlerites by point-blank fire. Eighty German trucks were disabled."

Soviet dispatches said that in two months of offensive action in the Crimea and Ukraine, the Germans had gained less than 15,000 square miles compared with the 335,000 square miles overrun by the invaders in the first months of the war.

Bennett, Mead Supporters Say Their Candidates Fit Roosevelt Desires

Albany, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Supporters of Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., and U. S. Senator James M. Mead for the New York Democratic gubernatorial nomination quickly claimed today their candidates fitted a description of the nominee President Roosevelt said he would support.

The President, after a conference yesterday with Rep. Michael K. Kennedy, Tammany leader, said he would support a liberal who had backed the administration's war policies 100 per cent before Pearl Harbor. With such qualifications, he predicted the Democratic nominee would easily defeat Thomas E. Dewey, a leading Republican candidate.

James A. Farley, Democratic state chairman, said:

"Mr. Bennett is a liberal and a survey of his record as attorney general will convince everyone that he has the same liberal viewpoint as President Roosevelt, whose political protégé he is."

Friends of Senator Mead pointed out he has been a consistent supporter of the administration both on domestic and foreign policies.

The junior senator from New York has declared he would not be a candidate but his friends insist he would accept the nomination if assured of the support of all factions in the party.

Retiring Governor Lehman is backing Lieut. Governor Charles Poletti. Others mentioned as possible nominees include Owen D. Young, retired General Electric board chairman, and Oscar R. Ewing, retired vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and former assistant to Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn.

Bennett has approximately two-thirds of the 1,014 state convention votes pledged to him.

resort to decide such questions as standardization of material types and similar issues which, because of democratic procedure, are debated sometimes for long periods without action.

This official said, "in a democracy, you've got to let everyone say his nickel's worth, but somebody has to make the decisions."

One of the most frequent arguments offered for a supreme commander is the apparent success of Foch as the Allied supreme commander in World War I. Others discount this precedent because Foch had only one front to worry about.

Whether the Roosevelt-Churchill combination serves the same purpose or whether they should yield their military power to another person are other questions raised in opposition to the supreme command idea.

Objections also arose because of the likelihood that Russia and perhaps even China—since they are fighting pretty much alone on their own fronts—could not be included in such a command. Some of the proponents of a unified command, incidentally, admitted this possibility but claimed that the remaining United Nations forces still needed coordination. This would include the United States, England and all the British empire, the Free French, the refugee European governments, and the Latin-American belligerents.

The equipment was found buried in the sands of the Long Island and Florida beaches.

There were indications that the prosecution would require not more than three days to present its case. There was little on which to base estimates of the defense tactics, which were assigned to Col. Cassius M. Dowell and Col. Kenneth Royall.

Some possible delays appeared, including, as happened in the famous Lincoln conspirator's trial, motions by the defense contesting the commission's jurisdiction, but any such motions could be disposed of by vote of the commission itself.

Horton Is Indicted

Carmel, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Edward Stephen Horton, 22, of (260 Riverside Drive) New York city, arrested in Cold Spring Sunday by state police, was indicted yesterday by the Putnam county grand jury on five charges: Kidnaping, grand larceny, robbery, and two of burglary. Troopers said Horton posed as a naval lieutenant commander while holding Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith captive for a day in their Lake Oswego cottage with a toy pistol. He also was charged with taking a gun from a Cold Spring war plant. County Judge James W. Bailey continued the case to July 13, after arraignment. Authorities said the F.B.I. had sought Horton since August.

The fall campaign with a goal of $12,000,000 is mostly tied up with war chests which have been uniformly successful.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 8, 1942

HELPING ENEMIES

Every citizen and every resident alien in Kingston and Ulster county should be aware of the harm done, and the danger incurred, in helping enemies of any breed in our midst. In these perilous days, everyone should know of the criminality of assisting alien enemies in any way. In war time an enemy at large is capable of great harm and harboring or helping him becomes a very serious matter.

The seriousness of disloyal acts in these critical war times is shown clearly in the case of Max Stephan, German-born restaurant man in Detroit. A jury has convicted him of treason, the highest of crimes and the most reprehensible in war time. His sentence may be five years imprisonment, or $10,000 fine, or both, or it may be death.

Many Americans, in time of peace, might not have taken Stephan's offense very seriously. He was charged with providing "aid and comfort to an enemy" in the case of a Nazi war prisoner fleeing from a Canadian military prison camp. Such aid consisted of "food, shelter, money and entertainment" and the prisoner himself, rounded up by the F. B. I., was the main witness.

Few people would expect the death penalty in this case. America is not Germany. But the sentence naturally must be severe enough to wake up the nation and to forewarn all of the gravity of such acts.

FUTURE TANKS

This has been a war of tanks as well as planes. Though the last war was largely won by the use of tanks, which broke through the German lines that had been thought impregnable, few foresaw the amazing importance they would assume in the present struggle.

An English writer, Prof. A. M. Low, observes that empty ships or planes can already be controlled by radio. We may yet see crewless tanks controlled and operated from the air. They would advance inexorably, to be stopped by nothing short of blowing them to pieces. Special types of tanks may arise: tank mine-sweepers to clear mine-fields on land as they are cleared at sea, and mine-laying tanks. Burrowing tanks may appear, able to dig in and take cover; submarine tanks which could crawl over the bed of a river, and flying tanks which would hop over obstacles. Television and radiolocation will do their part, too, enabling future tank crews to see on a screen a perfect picture of the countryside, and have their guns laid automatically.

This greater use of tanks may be balanced by less need of men. Infantry regiments today have often found tanks more than they could master. A war in which machines warred against machines might well be a war in which men were of little use at the front. Such a war might terrify the imagination, but also be less bloody than the warfare of today.

THE END FOR PERRY

Fred Perry will play no more match tennis. The world's professional champion injured his right elbow so severely six months ago that he has not been able to bend his arm properly since. While his forehead stroke is still good, he can neither deliver a backhand nor serve. So he is quitting the game.

This marks the end of the greatest tennis player since Tilden in his prime. Head of the famous British team that took the Davis Cup away from the United States in 1933 and held it for four years, he at one time was the champion of eight countries. In 1937 he turned professional, and was champion in 1938 and 1941, beating Donald Budge to gain this honor. Since November, 1940, he has been a naturalized American citizen.

Tennis fans will miss Perry. He and Tilden and Little Bill Johnston and McLoughlin and the Doherty brothers—these players all made tennis history.

WEEDS FOR LUNCH

Lamb's quarters, pigweed, white goosefoot, fat-hen, frost-bite, meal weed, bacon weed, are all the same. Their fancy Latin name is chenopodium album. They are good to eat. Purslane is a pot weed, too, or one for salad.

Milkweed can be cooked and served as a vegetable. So can the broad-leaved dock. Dr. George Washington Carver, noted scientist, has for years been pointing out the food values in common but neglected plants.

There was some historical discussion in Oregon recently about a kind of fern pie made and eaten with pleasure by the ancestors. It was probably made of the brake-fern, whose stems the English cook and eat like asparagus, saving the fronds for pot-herbs. This is the branched fern which the Scotch call "bracken."

These are not all the good weeds, but merely samples. Weeds are not all bad, apparently. What is contemptuously called a "weed" and thrown out, may be, in the garden, merely a useful plant out of place.

Here, however, is an important word of warning. Before the children run right outdoors and begin to sample everything, before any unusual plants are set on the table, it would be well to lay them before an expert. The poisonous ones and the good ones sometimes look much alike.

Botany is a fine summer out-door study, for young and old both.

The sun doesn't set now in northern Ireland till 10 p. m., so the soldier boys can just drill and drill and drill.

When the Nazis are feeling good, they go out and kill a lot of people. Same thing when they're feeling bad.

Rubbish collections are fascinating. "Age cannot wither them, nor custom stale their infinite variety."

With every victory the Nazis grow more arrogant and cruel, and the only way is to lick it out of them.

They should have an Alexander in that Egyptian campaign.

It's time to stop bragging about that bombing of Tokyo, and do it again.

There seems to be a strange unreality nowadays about Washington politics.

MORALE

A successful furniture manufacturer deciding to own his own timber limits, formed a partnership with a man of wealth. In doing so, he signed notes for his share. The sudden death of the wealthy partner so complicated affairs that the manufacturer lost his factory and plant and still owed hundreds of thousands of dollars. He first gave up in despair and then tried various methods of trying to make a living. He got nowhere until he was able to start a little factory employing a half dozen men.

A brilliant surgeon lost his nerve or morale due to various infections. Despite the removal of these infections he still felt unable to resume his work. Visiting his former brother, chance gave him the opportunity to "build" a complete wagon for his brother, build a sun parlor for his own city home, and enabled him to visit the hospital to "watch" an operation. During the operation, the operating surgeon received a wire from a country doctor to go immediately to a critical case. He asked the surgeon friend to carry on the operation. The surgeon did so, did a few operations and finally opened an office in a large "professional" building because he had regained his nerve, his morale. Regaining nerve or morale in both of these cases was due to "getting busy," "doing something," not just sitting and worrying.

A timely editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association speaks of an excellent project launched by the New York Academy of Medicine. Its object is the development of morale among the people of the United States by means of radio talks.

That these talks, arranged by experts in public health and psychiatry (mental ailments) will prove helpful in building morale can be seen as we read the program:

1. Mental casualties result not so much from threat of bodily harm as from disruption (disturbance) of the normal living.
2. The best antidote to panic is to engage the energies of people in some useful community work.
3. Those with anxieties can find relief from these anxieties in social activities.
4. Children tend to reflect the anxieties of their parents. Parents, knowing this, will protect their children.
5. To children under 6, home is the emotional center, while to children under 11, school is the emotional pivot.
6. Food and warmth are all important in sustaining morale.

Priest's Volume Discusses Merits of Closed Shop in Comprehensive Manner; Defines Union and Closed Shops

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 8.—Although the "closed shop" has been the subject of agitation for many decades, the number of books about it is small. In fact, the last work of any length on the subject came out in 1911. Hence it is interesting to note that the Rev. Jerome L. Toner, Ph. D., a Catholic priest who is a member of the faculty at St. Martin's College, Olympia, Washington, has just published a comprehensive volume which is enthusiastically applauded in its foreword by the Rt. Rev. John A. Ryan of Catholic University, an ardent New Dealer.

The book is plainly a supporting argument for the closed shop but it contains some interesting comments about the possible abuse of that device in labor technique. Also when it comes to terminology, Dr. Toner puts the weight of his researches behind the statement that "today the union shop and the closed shop mean substantially the same thing."

This comment is all the more interesting because of the effort of many writers to prove there is a substantial difference between the two. Dr. Toner says: "The recent emphasis on the distinction between these terms—the one giving the employer the liberty to hire anyone who will join the union, and the other requiring the employer to hire union men only—probably is a reflection of the practice of the C. I. O."

Although Dr. Toner defends the closed shop with vigor, he declares that "no responsible person can attempt to draw the conclusion that this study, directly or indirectly, casts a favorable light on Communists or racketeers who use the closed shop technique to further their own selfish ends."

Most interesting perhaps in the book is the manner in which Dr. Toner discusses the attitude of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches toward the closed shop principle. He says:

"Unions have always defended their legal right to ask for a closed shop—a right that is now admitted by federal and state statutes. They have also stressed the moral right to seek a closed shop, claiming that this rests on the social necessity of unions and the dictates of simple justice."

"Unions have sought support for their moral defense of the closed shop in the teachings of the churches. However, little positive proof can be offered that the churches have specially favored the closed shop. Protestantism, putting into practice its dogmatic individualism, cannot conceive of conditions where cooperation for the common good might require an infringement upon the right of individual workers to join the union of the majority. Judaism's opposition to competition and insistence on cooperation gives the closed shop principle comfort but not confirmation. The attitude of the Catholic church is that in certain circumstances, according to the Rt. Rev. John A. Ryan, there would be nothing immoral nor unjust in the union's use of the closed shop. The teachings of the Popes and their interpretation and application to American industry by the Archbishops and Bishops lend substantial although not specific endorsement to the closed shop. Nowhere is it named as an evil to be condemned. It receives indirect approval in the papal idealization of the ancient guilds which were voluntary or free associations in respect to membership—that is they were 'open' so that a worker was free to join or not to join—but compulsory or 'closed' in regard to trade or craft; that is, no one who was not a member of the guild could work at a craft or trade."

Dr. Toner points out that labor unions, being human institutions, are subject to the vices as well as the virtues of the leaders and that in that respect "the closed shop presents the same danger that is inherent in the concentration of power in the hands of any institution—political, economic or social." He adds that the danger is more threatening, however, when the power is held by union officials who, through the usurpation of power of voluntary associations, may almost at will refuse membership to some workers or rescind it from others, and that "in either case the result is to deprive a man of the opportunity to earn a living."

To overcome this Dr. Toner recommends that "every union must be open generally to qualified workers on reasonable and non-discriminatory terms," and that "workers who have been refused membership and those who have been suspended or expelled from a union should be permitted to appeal their cases to an impartial chairman or a labor board."

The book by Dr. Toner has been published by the American Council of Public Affairs, a non-profit organization here, which takes no responsibility for the views expressed by the authors but presents the work of scholars in various fields of the arts and sciences for the interest they may have to the public generally. "MIRACLE ON THE CONGO,"

By Ben Lucien Burman.

Ben Lucien Burman has temporarily forsaken his job of interpreting the Mississippi river people to the world for another and perhaps more important job of the same sort. His "Miracle on the Congo" is the story of the Free French in Africa and Asia Minor, and when the material of the book was published in various American periodicals, it constituted the first direct report on the Free French movement by a man not connected with the newspaper world. The report might seem more weighty if it depended less on writing and contained more statistics. But then it would not be as readable.

Mr. Burman rushed to Brazzaville in Africa when France fell. He wanted to know about the Free French movement, and he found his knowledge by living with it. His description of the incredible difficulty of building up an army out of a tiny coast is worth anybody's time. His trip through the heart of Africa to the Tchad and later through Egypt into Syria, is the first war-time account of activities there, and equally worth reading. And to be just, it must be said that many of the details that would build up the story could scarcely be given in these days without endangering men already in peril.

There are conclusions, too. Mr. Burman had Petain's "number" long before the ancient soldier made his classic statement about walking hand in hand with Pierre Laval. He understood the technique by which Vichy kept a hand on some of the colonies—it was simply to remove non-collaborationists, and force the rank and file to obey new, German-minded officers. And to allow Germany to pour "tourists" and technicians into the colonies without limit.

Mr. Burman was convicted months ago that the Germans had been given sub-marin bases (among other things) on the west coast of French Africa. He met and admired the new Lawrence of Arabia, Glubb Pacha, and watched "Blubb's Girls" in swift and fierce action—natives so-called because of the wild beauty of their uniforms, like something out of a military Ziegfeld Follies.

And now Mr. Burman is passionately convinced that if we do not transfer our sympathies from Vichy to the Free French, we shall pay dearly and quickly for it. France has now moved south.

Two fine pieces of lacework by a colonel and a group of cleverly-modeled lead soldiers by another colonel featured an exhibition in Glasgow, Scotland, of paintings, drawings, models and needlework by army men.

Keep our boys tiptop by putting the U. S. O. drive over the top.

Washington in Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Among all the war-time food shortage stories floating about, one of the most surprising is the one about bananas.

The obvious lead, of course, is to quote that song ballad of some years back: "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Which is now exactly the truth. But I wouldn't have known anything about it if I hadn't gone shopping one day when the dearth of fruit had affected local groceries.

Finally, I got around to "How about bananas?" The clerk said: "Oh, yes, we have bananas. Here is a delicious one, almost over-ripe. I can let you have it for 15 cents. The smaller one, slightly green, you can have for a dime."

That was the first time I had slipped up on bananas. It was quite a blow. Back in the pre-orange days, my Old Man (he was 18 then) worked the green-apple trick on bananas. He ate two dozen of them on his way home to dinner on the back platform of a Chicago trolley. He was so sick he didn't know where to get off.

So are the banana growers of the Caribbean today.

The story comes from the Department of Agriculture and the National Geographic Society.

In the first place, except for its food value (it is very rich in carbohydrates and minerals), the banana isn't important to war. Its shipping is. The 100-plus ships that have comprised the banana fleet are now doing service elsewhere. The result: Billions of bananas ripening on the trees—"green gold" turning to worthless rot—on more than 3,000,000 acres of otherwise useless tropical swamps of Jamaica, Mexico, Honduras and Guatemala.

New Orleans, formerly the greatest banana port in the world, isn't a banana port at all any more.

It is hard to conceive of the tragedy this war has brought to the banana growers in Good Neighbor countries to the south.

The banana is a strange fruit. It doesn't grow on a tree, but on a plant. Its tight, woody leaves form a trunk which shoves the single-stem fruit as high as 30 feet from the ground. It thrives where man suffers most, in the humid, fever-ridden swamps of the tropics. Although brought into this country from Asia 24 years after the arrival of Columbus, it was still a tropical curiosity (single bananas wrapped in tinfoil) at the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876. By 1910 it had become a national staple.

In 1937, the peak year, we imported more than 10,000,000 bananas on 66,587,000 stems. The banana isn't any good if it is allowed to ripen on the tree, which makes it the A-1 fruit for long-distance transportation. Even in the banana country, they are picked green.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Book of Social Usage," etc.)

JUST WHAT DOES "AFTER-NOON TEA" MEAN?

"Afternoon tea" can at times be elastic in meaning, although it usually does mean that tea, either hot or cold, is the principal beverage. This is in answer to a reader who asks: "Does an invitation reading 'afternoon tea' have to mean pure unadulterated tea, or can it mean a fruit punch or something easier to serve? And what should it provide sandwiches and cakes?"

In addition to this I can suggest that the fruit punch have tea as the foundation. Or you could have a tea-less fruit punch, and plain tea as an alternate choice. Sandwiches and small cakes are always suitable to serve with whatever variety of tea you have.

The Maid of Honor's Dress
Dear Mrs. Post: Does the maid of honor's dress have to be different from the dresses worn by the bridesmaids? Will you please tell me what usually distinguishes them?

Answer: They are usually but not necessarily different. The detail that really distinguishes her is that she stands near the bride throughout the ceremony, holds the bride's bouquet and afterward straightens out the bride's veil and train. If she walks with a bridesmaid, she usually is called a first bridesmaid; when she walks alone, she is the maid of honor, but she can perfectly well wear a dress that duplicates those of the bridesmaids.

Dutch Treat Out of Order
Dear Mrs. Post: My mother approved of my girl friend's and my idea of inviting two boys whom we know rather well from school, but whom we have never gone out with—to our house for supper and to the movies after supper "Dutch Treat." But my grandmother almost exploded when she heard about it and said if the boys had taken us places it would be all right, but they hadn't they surely would get the idea that we were "running after" them. Mother disagreed with grandmother and we all decided to put it up to you.

Answer: Properly your invitation should have included supper and the movies, tickets provided by your family. You can't very well invite boys or girls to go out with you and then expect them to pay their way. If a group of you together happened to be talking about going to a certain movie and you were to say "Let's go Dutch," that would be all right, but not quite the way the evening you describe was carried out.

So many requests have been made for copies of my article on details concerned with training camps (behavior of visitors and presents for men) that I have had it printed as a leaflet and will be very glad to send it to anyone who sends me a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope to Emily Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage.

Churches Arrange For Bible School Summer Program

Next Monday at 9 a. m., the First Baptist Church will open for the first session of the Vacation Bible School to be conducted by the Protestant churches of the Kingston Council of Christian Education.

Judging from the registrations received and the inquiries coming in daily from parents, the new venture will be an outstanding success.

The questions most frequently asked are: "Is this something new?" and "What is the purpose and value of it?" Vacation Bible Schools are by no means new, even though this is the first one to be held in Kingston. Their origin dates back to July, 1898, when the first school was held in New York with an enrollment of 57 children.

From that simple beginning, which a New York daily paper termed a "novel enterprise," the idea has grown into a world-wide movement, sponsored under the International Council of Religious Education. In 1940, one denomination conducted 3,704 Vacation Schools, 3,157 in the United States and 547 in other countries.

The several denominations which co-operated in the International Council of Religious Education prepare the textbooks so that a unified program is carried out nearly all the schools.

These schools provide opportunities for study, recreation, worship and handwork. Parents are enthusiastic since they find them a safe, wholesome environment during the summer, with an emphasis upon knowledge of the Bible, character building and constructive activity.

Who May Attend
Sessions in the Vacation School will be held from 11:30 o'clock each morning, Monday through Friday, July 13 to 24. There is a registration fee of 25 cents for each pupil, plus a small amount, not over 25 cents, to defray the cost of materials used in the handwork period. Each boy and girl will make some object associated with the course of study, which he may take home and keep as a souvenir of the school.

The school is open to every boy and girl in Kingston, regardless of whether they are connected with any church, from the ages of 6 to 12. Pupils will be grouped in departments, Primary, Junior and Intermediate.

Courses and Leaders
The Primary Department will study the course, "Learning About Our Church" and will be directed by Mrs. H. Thomas Decker, assisted by Miss Betty Snyder. Part of the time will be spent in trips to churches of various denominations in the city, becoming acquainted with the mode of worship, architecture, etc.

The Junior Department, led by Mrs. Robert Thompson, will study the course, "Friends at Work," which acquaints the children with the ways in which religion inspires people in a city, such as Kingston, to provide hospitals, homes for the aged, children's homes, etc. Trips will be taken to a number of interesting points.

The Intermediate Department will be in charge of Mrs. Ida K. Shapoval, studying the subject, "Families of the Bible." This course will emphasize values which make for constructive and happy home life, each pupil becoming acquainted with the personality of great people in Bible families.

Emphasis will be placed upon worship and the part played by the church in the community. As part of the regulation of camp the children are required to rest for two hours during the afternoon. This rest period with three good meals, a quart of milk a day and plenty of exercise, organized and quiet games in the sun and fresh air is bound to build up healthier citizens for Ulster county.

Working with the children this year are: The Misses Evelyn Olivet of Kingston and Barbara Lent of Highland as counselors; Miss Miriam Maroon, resident of Kingston, and Miss Harriet Meredith of Wallkill, dietitian-cook; Mr. s. Katherine Zimmer, this season is serving her fifth year as helper. The camp is under the supervision of the committee nurse, Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R.N.

This year visiting day for parents will be July 26 from 3 to 5 p. m. People of Kingston and Ulster county are invited to visit the camp at any time during the period and observe at first hand this program carried on by the Christmas Seals Committee in the interest of health in war time.

Woodstock Plans Costume Affair For Free French

Myrette Ponselle, famous singer of Paris street songs, has recently arrived in this country from Nazi-occupied France. She will bring her accordion and sing her songs at the "Bal Musette" (French costume dance) which the Woodstock Chapter of France Forever is sponsoring in celebration of Bastille Day, July 14.

Myrette Ponselle will sing to help her gallant countrymen, the Free French, who refused to accept defeat and rallied to the call of General de Gaulle to "continue the fight" and are now fighting for liberty all over the world on the side of the allied nations.

On the evening of Bastille Day, the great Independence Day of the French people, Woodstock's town hall will be brilliantly decorated with flags of the allied nations hanging above the costumed dancers. Captain William Moncre, U.S.A. (retired), and Charles Rosen, N.Y., are in charge of the decorations. On the walls will hang pictures donated by Woodstock's noted artists including Max Weber, Eugene Speicher, Andrew Ruellan, Charles Rosen, Helen Shotwell, Alfred Flutty, Marion Bullard, Frederic Knight, Stanley Crane, Albert Heckman, John W. Taylor, Peggy Dodds, Florence Cramer and others.

Andrew Ruellan is chairman for the celebration assisted by Miss Alice Henderson as vice-chairman.

Mrs. Vladimir Padwa and Mrs. Charles Rosen are arranging the music program and promise several bands, all giving their talents. Mrs. William Moncre, Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin and Miss Elsa Kimball will have charge of the refreshments. Tickets are on sale at the Woodstock 5 and 10 cent store and may be obtained from committee members.

Several guests from France Forever headquarters are expected. Costumes are not obligatory but are hoped for to add to the gaiety and French character of the dance.

To add to the proceeds, Miss Margaret Herick has given three important pictures by famous French artists. They are: Lithograph by Maillol, etching by Renoir and drawing by Matisse.

The recent card party given by the Home Bureau will also share proceeds with France Forever. Donations have been given also by Alfeo Faggi and Clarence Bolton.

God give us men; a time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;

Men who have honor; men who will not lie—Josiah Holland.

A certain railroad vice-president, alighting from his special car at a small terminal and having nothing else to do, engaged in conversation with the first employee he met. The latter happened to be an elderly man in overalls. The official inquired:

Vice-President: How long have you worked for this road?

Employee: Forty-two years.

Vice-President: How much do you make?

Employee: Forty cents an hour.

Vice-President: And how much do you make when you first came to work for us?

Employee: Forty cents an hour.

The vice-president marveled. Indeed, the incident so preyed on him that at the next board meeting, he suggested something be done for the employee who had labored 42 years at 40 cent an hour.

It was agreed to retire the employee so he was honored by an invitation to appear at the next meeting of the board, where he was presented with a substantial bonus check which he fingered wildly.

To relieve his evident embarrassment and uncertainty, the president asked:

President: By the way, what is your job with our line?

Employee: I go around the yard hitting the wheels with a hammer.

President (beaming): And what do you do for that?

Employee: I'm sure I don't know.

Clerk: I'm sorry, madam, but we don't cash checks for strangers.

Customer: Oh, but I'm not a stranger! My brother's boss knows a man whose cousin is thinking of buying the building next to this one.

Man: Why did you keep applauding that woman who was singing? Her voice was terrible.

Wife: I know it was, but her gown was so beautiful I wanted to get another look at it.

Rules Committee Studies Proposal For Lease of Park

Black's Suggestion to Have Resolution Adopted on 'Criticism' of Mayor Is Turned Down

"For the second time within a few weeks our mayor has been ridiculed in the columns of The Freeman," declared Alderman Paul Black of the Sixth ward, Democratic minority leader in the Common Council, on Tuesday evening in seeking to obtain revenue from the monthly session of the council, ruled such a resolution out of order. He said that the aldermen as well as the mayor were public servants and that they and the mayor should realize that as such they were subject to criticism.

"If we should adopt such a resolution as requested by Alderman Black," ruled President Schwenk, "the meetings of the Common Council would be occupied in refuting criticisms leveled at the mayor and other public officials." Alderman Black's remarks followed the reading by Deputy City Clerk Harry Seitz of a communication from District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, attorney for Joseph Mock of New York, who now owns Barmann Park, which Mock wants the city to lease at a rental of $500. The communication was referred to the laws and rules committee who will submit a report at a recessed meeting of the council Friday evening.

The request made by Alderman Black that the mayor be defended from criticism was based on a story in The Freeman Tuesday night in which District Attorney Haver stated that the mayor had threatened to boost Mock's assessments to $50,000 if he persisted in seeking to obtain revenue from the city for the use of Barmann Park, which is one of the leading playgrounds of the city.

"I spoke to the mayor," said Alderman Black, "and he said that the words did not drop out of his mouth, but not before Mr. Haver and Mr. Mock's representative had said that if the city did not reach an agreement with Mock that they would throw all of the playground equipment out of the park into the street."

"I ask," said Alderman Black, "for the adoption of a resolution objecting to attacks being made against the mayor. This is a time when we all should work together. Mr. Haver should devote more of his time to his public office without making attacks and he would probably obtain better results in his office."

Must Expect Criticism
"Every man in public office knows or should know that he is subject to criticism," said President Schwenk in ruling the proposed resolution out of order. "He is a public servant and as such is subject to criticism. If, every time the mayor is criticized by the press or the public, the council should adopt a resolution objecting to it, it would mean that the greater part of the time taken by the council in its meetings would be devoted to adopting such resolutions. It is not necessary for the Common Council to take any such action proposed."

Pharmacist Mate

GEORGE SVIRSKY
George Svirsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Svirsky of Ulster Park, who enlisted in the United States Navy June 15, was sworn in as pharmacist mate third class July 7. He was graduated in the class of 1937 from Kingston High School and also from the Albany College of Pharmacy with the Class of 1941.

Mr. Joseph Mock of 710 West End avenue, New York City. Mr. Forman has advised me that the matter should be brought to the attention of the mayor and the Common Council.

I am therefore enclosing copy of my communication to Mr. Forman with the request that it be given attention.

Very truly yours,
N. LEVAN HAVER.

June 15, 1942.

To Joseph Forman, Esq.,
Corporation Counsel,
65 John Street,
Kingston, New York.

Dear Joe:

I am addressing this letter to you rather than to the mayor, since I assume the matters herein referred to will ultimately come to your attention.

I believe Mr. D. A. Mock, son of Joseph Mock, who is the present owner of the Barmann Park property, has discussed with the mayor and yourself the occupancy of the city of Kingston. The owner is desirous that some definite lease be entered into with the city and himself and has requested me to give you some of his views with regard to such lease.

He feels that the property is worth a rental of $500.00 per year over and above all taxes assessed against it and is desirous of entering into a lease providing for a monthly rental beginning July 1, 1942. It is agreeable that the rental be paid either monthly or quarterly. In view of the fact that the property may be sold, it is desirous that the lease have a 30-day cancellation clause, and he is also desirous that the city agree to save him harmless from all liability for personal injuries or property damage suffered by any parties as a result of the use of the property.

In the event the city does not desire to lease the property on these or other terms mutually agreeable, Mr. Mock is desirous that the city remove its playground equipment and apparatus not later than July 1.

I am sure that we all realize that it is in urgent need of park and playground facilities. We have noticed on many recent occasions that the park is quite crowded with children throughout the day and evening, except during school hours. In view of these facts, I sincerely hope that some satisfactory arrangement for the lease of these premises to the city can be had.

Very truly yours,
N. LEVAN HAVER.
President Schwenk referred both communications to the laws and rules committee, and the council recessed until Friday evening to receive the report of the committee.

Mrs. Weber Asks $1,000 for Injury To Her Daughter

Mrs. William Weber of 102 Cedar street on Tuesday evening filed a claim against the city in the sum of $1,000 for injuries suffered by her daughter, Kathleen, while playing in Barmann Park. The claim was referred to the auditing committee and corporation counsel.

Mrs. Weber in her communication to the council stated that on May 19, while her daughter was at Barmann Park a boy named William Rice, aged 10 years, of Clinton avenue was swinging a baseball bat and it struck her daughter in the nose. She said she had taken the girl to a physician for treatment and had been informed that the injury would leave a permanent scar.

The doctor's bill, she wrote, was $14 and she asked that as the wound would leave a permanent scar that she be awarded damages in the sum of $1,000 for the injury. All of the aldermen were present at the regular monthly meeting of the council last night with the exception of Alderman Martin F. Lenihan of the Fifth ward, who is now a member of the U. S. Army.

"For Funeral Home"
F. Daniel Halloran of 88 West Chester street filed a petition with the council requesting that the property be placed in the business zone as he desired to use the property for a Funeral Home. Mr. Halloran wrote that he had been a resident of Kingston for more than 25 years. He attached a petition signed by more than 50 percent of the property owners in the vicinity of the proposed Funeral Home in which they stated they had no objection to its being established.

The petition was referred to the laws and rules committee. The council unanimously adopted the budget prepared by the Board of Education and fixed the school tax rate at $9.28 per thousand valuation. The sum necessary to be raised by tax levy is $213,587.22.

Granted Refund
James J. Dugan of 58 Brewster street sent in a communication requesting that he be refunded $37.77 on his 1942 general city tax. He wrote that last year he had applied for an exemption of $1,300 on his property, but had only been granted an exemption of $450. Since then it had been established, he wrote, that his contention that $1,300 was correct was correct.

City Assessor James H. Betts sent in a communication to the effect that the property should be exempted in the sum of $1,300, and Mr. Dugan's request for a refund in the amount of taxes he had paid this year was granted by the council.

Parking Grounds
The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer sent a request asking that the former site of the Hauck brewery on Wurts street, at McEntee street, be used for parking grounds as it would relieve traffic congestion on that street, especially on Sundays during the hours when church services were held.

The request was referred to the building and supply committee, who have charge of the grounds, and later in the meeting the committee reported favorably on the request with the restrictions imposed that the grounds be used only for the parking of pleasure cars and that all-night parking was prohibited.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted. Zellmer Appointed
The building and supply committee also reported that it had appointed George Zellmer of 33 Hone street to have charge of the municipal central heating plant of the city. This position was filled for a number of years by the late Everett Roosa. The report was approved by the council.

The committee also reported favorably on Alderman Lenihan's request that the city erect a three-foot rail on top of the wall on Sycamore street at East Union street. The report was adopted. Alderman Coughlin's resolution that full stop signs be erected on Hunter street at Ravine and Hone streets, was referred to the traffic control committee.

That committee reported favorably on Alderman Newkirk's resolution that the traffic ordinance be amended to permit parking on the southerly side of Thomas street between the hours of 6 p. m., and 3 a. m., which would relieve parking conditions during the night in that section of the city.

Alderman Houghtaling's resolution that full stop signs be placed on First, Second and Third avenues, where they intersect Delaware avenue, was referred to the traffic control committee.

Buy Building
The three-story brick building at 571-573 Broadway, owned by Alice Crozier of New Jersey, has been sold to Abraham and Clara Goldfarb of Kingston. Mr. Goldfarb, who runs a gas station adjoining the property, makes the new buy as an investment. The building houses the Railway Agency on the first floor and dwelling apartments on the upper floor. Attorney Daniel Hoffman handled the legal end of the transaction.

Art Hoffman Sees Easy Victory for Hildebrandt Club

Boatmen and Veterans to Meet at City Stadium Sunday Afternoon at 3 P. M.

"We did it before and we'll do it again," said Art Hoffman this morning in a communication with The Freeman sports department. Hoffman, spokesman of the Hildebrandt baseball team, remarked these strong words in connection with next Sunday afternoon's U.S.O. benefit battle against Jack Dawkins' veteran players at the municipal stadium.

Hoffman continued by saying, "These old timers are nothing to worry about. True they were good ball players but that was long ago. We will take them without too much trouble."

That's the word from the Hildebrandt camp where it seems as if there isn't anything to worry about for Sunday's ball game. Meanwhile, Manager Jack Hoffman hasn't made any comment as yet but is sticking to his guns waiting for the big struggle which is expected to attract a lot of fans to the uptown ball orchard Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

Hoffman didn't reveal any definite starting lineup but hinted that the following might see starting service Sunday afternoon: Perc Slover on first, Michaels on second, Jimmy Steigewald at third and "Red" McLean at short. His picket department consists of Art Jansen, Hogan, Swart and Quinn. Big Ted Freleigh, former City League hurler, is expected to start on the hill. Prinley and Hoffman are ready for backstop duties.

On the other hand Manager Dawkins seems ready to counter with either Charlie Tiano or Jimmy Morgan on first for the veteran Tommy Davitt on second, Bob Slicker at short and Carl Huston at third. These boys may be getting on in years but still have a lot of baseball in them.

Dawkins has a lot of outfield reserve strength with Charlie Lay, Mac Tiano, Dawkins himself, Kid Moore, Marty Carr, Bob Tierney and Sam Sperling.

Dawkins also has selected a sturdy battery department with Jack Robins, Joe Hoffman and Joe Messinger set to do the catching. His pitching choices are Bill Thomas, Paul Joyce and Toddy Uhl. All are seasoned veterans and should give Hildebrandt plenty to look at.

Dawkins hasn't announced his mound selection as yet but it is figured to be Bill Thomas, member of the Kingston Recreation pitching staff. Bill hasn't seen too much service this year but he remarks that his arm is feeling better than it did during the early months of April and May. Should Thomas start on the hill it is likely that Robins will start behind the plate.

All proceeds of the game will be turned over to the local fund of U.S.O. and according to the interest already shown in this game, there should be an attractive turnout in the stands next Sunday afternoon.

Kovacs Is Inducted Minus His Racquet

'Feels Like Dude Walking in Sport Clothes'

Oakland, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Frank Kovacs, 21, the tennis clown, reported to the army Tuesday for induction, taking along his golf clubs and a violin but leaving his tennis racquets behind.

"I'm afraid to take my tennis racquets," he joked. "Maybe I can find somebody in the army to play the violin."

"It'll be good to be in a uniform. I felt like a dude walking around New York city in sport clothes. Everybody else was wearing some sort of uniform, even the street sweepers."

"The draft board gave me an extra week so I could play in the professional tournament at Forest Hills, but they can't get along without me any more."

He is married and has a daughter.

Big Upset Looms In Women's Golf At Lake Placid

Mrs. Chandler, Newburgh, Threatens Pre-Tournament Dope; Seen as Good Choice to Triumph

Lake Placid, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Mrs. Dan Chandler of Newburgh, hard-hitting former Texas star, threatens to upset pre-tournament dope and walk off with the New York State Women's Golf Championship.

With her putter in good working order, and her long drives a big advantage on the 6,354-yard lower course of the Lake Placid Club, Mrs. Chandler has established herself as a dangerous "dark horse." She should have little trouble disposing of Mrs. Archie McLave, White Plains, today.

Mrs. McLave barely defeated Hilda Swanson of Syracuse yesterday, one up, while Mrs. Chandler was overpowering Schenectady's Mrs. C. W. Whitehead, 6 and 5. The experienced Newburgh golfer had an 80—a single stroke over medalist score—in the qualifying round Monday.

The 19-year-old medalist, Ann Winslow of Frankfort, faces Buffalo's capable Betsy McLeod after turning back Mrs. M. S. Dunham of Syracuse, 8 and 6.

Mrs. Virginia Giuliof Allen, Syracuse, the defending champion, and three other former titlists, all advanced easily yesterday. The others are Marjorie Harrison of the home club, Mrs. Charles Leichter, Flushing, and Peggy Delehant, Albany.

In today's matches, the former winners will line up as follows: Mrs. Allen vs. Mrs. W. A. Reynolds, White Plains; Miss Harrison vs. Margaret Nichols, York; Mrs. Leichter vs. Shirley Podret, Poughkeepsie; and Miss Delehant vs. Grace Amory, Locust Valley.

Other second round matches: Carolyn Auer, Syracuse, vs. Kathleen Byrne, Rye and Mrs. R. M. Torgerson, Kew Gardens, vs. Mrs. Aileen Strauss, New York city.

Angott Registers Verdict Over Bob Montgomery in 12

16,050 Fans See Fight in Philly; Winner to Tangle With Ray Robinson Next

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—Light-weight Champion Sammy Angott had to live up to his reputation as a third straight win over Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery, but his latest victory has started a controversy that may lead to a fourth meeting.

Angott bulldozed and mauled his way to a split decision over Montgomery at Shibe Park last night in a 12-round non-title scrap. The decision was booed by many in the crowd of 16,050 that contributed to a gross take of $33,553.50, but there seemed to be as many who declared the decision was just.

Charles Jones, manager of the Washington, Pa., champion, summed it up in a few words:

"We won, didn't we. We've beaten him three times now, twice in Philadelphia. But we're willing to fight him again if the fans want it."

Angott a 6 to 5 favorite, carried through the fight by Montgomery throughout the first five rounds and piled up a big lead. In the sixth, Montgomery managed to keep Angott at long range and drove home a series of lefts and rights. Throughout the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth Montgomery waged an uphill battle, but then he weakened. Angott swarmed all over him in the last round.

The grueling, but not spectacular fight, was decided by the vote of Referee Spud Murphy after the judges split.

Murphy gave Angott six rounds, Montgomery four and called two even. Judge Harry Lasky gave it to Angott by 6-5-1. Judge Eddie Loughran scored it as a Montgomery victory on a 6-5-1 basis.

Angott, who now meets Ray Robinson in New York on July 31, weighed 139 to Montgomery's 137.

Bob Feller Is Routed by Winners in Second; Rigney Hurls Good Ball for Sailors

Cleveland, July 8 (AP)—The American League All-Stars have proved by all tests that they are currently, the mightiest in baseball.

Before 62,094 spectators in Cleveland's municipal stadium last night, the American Leaguers proved their pitching was too sharp for eyes dulled by months of devotion to another task and their bats too potent for pitching arms grown rusty in the armed services of their country.

The American Leaguers routed proud bullet Bob Feller of the Navy, Cleveland's own fireballer, with a three run outburst at the start, and then went on to trounce Lieut. Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane's soldiers and sailors, 5 to 0. Six innings the American Leaguers clung to a 3 to 0 lead collected at Feller's expense in the first two, and then sewed up the game in the seventh with a two-run attack on Mickey Harris, former Boston Red Sox lefty.

"Iron Mike" Cochrane, once manager of the Detroit Tigers, and one of the greatest catchers in baseball history, took the defeat calmly.

"We lost in the first inning," Cochrane explained. "We had the bases loaded and a single would have changed the whole story. We just muffed a big opportunity. That's all. You don't get a chance to beat a team like those American Leaguers every day in the week. I've never seen him get belted like that. It proves that he wasn't there at his duties in the Navy have robbed him of his timing, his control."

Rigney Looks Good

Best looking pitcher of the night was John Dugan Rigney, late of the Chicago White Sox, now a "gob" at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. The 27-year-old Rigney went to Feller's rescue with no one out in the second, and pitched five runless innings, allowing the American Leaguers only three hits, one a miserable infield grounder that Rigney was unable to field. Rigney left the game in the sixth to make way for a pinch hitter, Johnny Lucadello, formerly of the St. Louis Browns.

The service all-stars threatened in the first inning when Jim Bagby, Jr., of the Cleveland Indians was on the mound. Bagby got the bases loaded, with one out, chiefly through his wildness, which he blamed against "poor umpiring."

He walked Benny McCoy of Philadelphia A's, and then Don Padgett of the St. Louis Cardinals sent a single screaming into left field. Cecil Travis of the Washington Senators also was passed, filling the bases. Up stepped Joe Grace of the St. Louis Browns. He waited for three balls and then looked at three strikes. Johnny Sturm, Yankees' first baseman, ended it by grounding.

Feller Is Greeted

The homecoming of Feller, making his first appearance in Cleveland's ball field since late last September, was pathetic. When he proudly strolled to the mound, cheers greeted him. After Lou Boudreau, 24-year-old Cleveland manager, had fled out, Tommy Henrich of the Yankees rolled a scratch single toward the box, which Feller was unable to reach. Ted Williams, the Boston clouter, was passed and Joe DiMaggio blasted a single to center, scoring Henrich. Then Rudy York, Tiger first baseman, lifted a high fly to right, with Williams scoring.

In the second, Ken Keltner, Cleveland's sparkling third baseman, slammed a triple into deep center and Buddy Rosar, a Yankee catcher, whacked a single into the left field grass, with Keltner scoring. That finished Feller. Sailor Rigney came in to stop the proceedings.

When Harris started in the seventh, Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees slammed a double, stole third and counted on a triple by Williams, who previously had been passed three times. DiMaggio fled to third base of Washington at third base, and George McQuinn of the St. Louis Browns, who had replaced York at first, ripped off another three bagger to right and Williams counted with the final tally.

In all, the American Leaguers collected 10 hits; the soldiers and sailors six.

Totalizer receipts on the first two days of this year's Punchedown races in Eire totaled over $87,500, a new high record.

13 Primary Tests Dunkerque Losses For Congress Loom Startled Canada In State Sections From Complacency

Four Republican and Two Democratic Petitions Are on File for Post Held by Fish

Albany, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—A political struggle brewed today over New York's 26th Congressional District seat—held by Rep. Hamilton Fish for 22 years—with four Republican and two Democratic petitions on file for August 11 primaries.

Fish, pre-war critic of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, was one of several veteran Republican congressmen facing primary fights as the time for filing nominating petitions closed last midnight.

At least 13 primary contests for congress and three for state senate seats were listed for Republican, Democratic and American Labor Parties, and there was a possible chance more might develop today. The State Board of Elections accepts any petition by mail postmarked before midnight.

The stiffest fight, however, lies in the 26th District, comprising Dutchess, Orange and Putnam counties. Fish will be opposed by Assemblyman Emerson D. Fite, Augustus W. Bennet, Newburgh attorney, and Edward J. Bowen, Poughkeepsie, in Republican primaries.

Bowen, an enrolled Democrat who has fought Fish's reelection for years, will also enter the Democratic primaries, against Ferdinand A. Hoyt, Beacon, a workmen's compensation referee. Hoyt has received the American Labor Party endorsement for the district.

Despite the heavy numerical competition, Fish has predicted his renomination and election "with more Democratic votes than any Republican candidate for any office ever received in this district."

Two other possible opponents did not show up in the filing. They are Republican State Senator Allan A. Ryan, Jr., who announced his candidacy for the nomination and later withdrew, and Arthur R. Vinton, Orange county dairy farmer and stage and screen actor, who had declared himself a candidate for the Democratic designation.

Meantime, the right and left wing factions of the American Labor Party each filed a slate of state committee members and of delegates to the state convention in a battle for party control.

The action is considered of importance since control of the A.L.P. state committee could have a drastic effect on the state's gubernatorial campaign. The A.L.P. committee, controlled by the right wing, has announced it would "not under any circumstances accept the candidacy" of Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., a leading Democratic contender.

The A.L.P. gave Governor Lehman 419,979 votes in 1938 when Lehman defeated Thomas E. Dewey by only 64,394.

Other contests for congress include:

Republican: Thirtieth District—Bernard W. Kearney, Gloversville, Henry C. Fagal and William W. Campbell, both of Schenectady, for the seat vacated by Frank Crowther, Schenectady Republican.

Thirty-third—Fred J. Douglas, Utica, incumbent, and Parker F. Scripture, Jr., Rome.

Thirty-fourth—Dewin A. Hall, Binghamton, incumbent, and John C. Stott, of McDonough.

Thirty-seventh—W. Sterling Cole, Bath, incumbent, and State Assemblyman Dutton S. Peterson, Odesa.

Fortieth—Walter G. Andrews, Buffalo, incumbent, and William G. Whalen, Lockport.

Forty-third District—Daniel A. Reed, Dunkirk, incumbent, and Nelson M. Fuller, Olean.

Democratic: Fourteenth (Manhattan)—Arthur G. Klein, incumbent, and Morris Weinfield.

Fiftieth (Manhattan)—Thomas F. Burchill and Eugene J. McManus.

Eighteenth (Manhattan)—Martin J. Kennedy, incumbent, and Sidney J. Unger.

Twentieth (Manhattan)—Vito Marcantonio, incumbent (A.L.P.), and Frank J. Ricca.

Thirty-fourth—Edwin A. Hall, Republican incumbent, Binghamton, and Arthur J. Ruland, Binghamton.

American Labor Party: First district—William S. Rabin, Hempstead, L. I., and Sabino Dewey, Huntington, L. I.

Twenty-ninth District—Dean P. Taylor, Brunswick, and Forest Wallace, Glens Falls.

Thirtieth—Herbert M. Merrill, Schenectady, and Bernard W. Kearney, Gloversville.

Thirty-third—Edwin Patterson, Utica, and Stannard Dow Butler, Cold Brook.

For State Senate: Republican: Fifty-first District—James W. Riley, Olean, incumbent, and George H. Pierce, Olean.

American Labor Party: First District—Charlotte Brody, Hempstead, L. I., and Arthur R. Bentz, Elmont.

24th District—Margaret R. Cann, Eltingville, S. I., and T. Fergus Redmond, Haverstraw.

State's Worth, 25 Billions Albany, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Those who would like to buy New York state, can figure on spending about $25,313,880.574. This is the assessed real estate value of the 62 counties announced by the State Tax Commission, and is $275,152,353 less than a year ago. New assessment rates average 89.4 per cent of "full valuation," the highest percentage on record.

duction of guns, British and American ordnance experts who have studied the Dominion's system of mass production in one arms plant say it is one of the most efficient of its kind in the world.

Bren guns and Browning aircraft machine guns have been turned out by the tens of thousands, and one plant is producing Lee-Enfield .303 rifles at the rate of 4,000 a month. More than 1,000 Sten machine carbines are being produced each month, and production of anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns, trench mortars and 25-pound field guns is increasing steadily.

Every 30 days more than 1,000,000 shells in 21 different types of 14 calibres pour from ammunition plants. Each 365 days Canada turns out one billion rounds of small arms ammunition in addition to huge quantities of aerial bombs, anti-tank mines and trench mortar bombs.

The tanks are rolling off the assembly lines, too, and several hundred 18-ton Valentines already have been shipped to the Russian front. The other Canadian-made tank is the 28-ton Ram, powered by a Wright whirlwind engine.

In all, the Dominion has produced more than 250,000 motorized vehicles since the war began. One plant alone turns out every 14 days enough Universal carriers, essentially baby tanks, to equip a division of infantry.
